RESPONDING TO DOMESTIC ABUSE POLICY

All forms of domestic abuse are wrong and must stop. The Parochial Church Council are committed to promoting and supporting environments which:

- ensure that all people feel welcomed, respected and safe from abuse;
- protect those vulnerable to domestic abuse from actual or potential harm;
- recognise equality amongst people and within relationships;
- enable and encourage concerns to be raised and responded to appropriately and consistently.

We recognise that:

- all forms of domestic abuse cause damage to the survivor and express an imbalance of power in the relationship;
- all survivors (regardless of age, disability, gender, racial heritage, religious belief, sexual orientation or identity) have the right to equal protection from all types of harm or abuse;
- domestic abuse can occur in all communities;
- domestic abuse may be a single incident, but is usually a systematic, repeated pattern which escalates in severity and frequency;
- domestic abuse, if witnessed or overheard by a child, is a form of abuse by the perpetrator of the abusive behaviour;
- working in partnership with children, adults and other agencies is essential in promoting the welfare of any child or adult suffering abuse.

We will endeavour to respond to domestic abuse by:

In all our activities –

- valuing, listening to and respecting both survivors and alleged or known perpetrators of domestic abuse.

In our publicity –

- raising awareness about other agencies, support services, resources and expertise, through providing information in public and women-only areas of relevance to survivors, children and alleged or known perpetrators of domestic abuse.

When concerns are raised –

- ensuring that those who have experienced abuse can find safety and informed help;
- working with the appropriate statutory bodies during an investigation into domestic abuse, including when allegations are made against a member of the church community.

In our care –

- ensuring that informed and appropriate pastoral care is offered to any child, young person or adult who has suffered abuse;
- identifying and outlining the appropriate relationship of those with pastoral care responsibilities with both survivors and alleged or known perpetrators of domestic abuse.

If you have any concerns or need to talk to anyone please contact the Rector, the Reverend Canon Nicola Lenthall, The Vicarage, Clayhall Road, Kensworth on 01582 872223 or revnicolalenthall@btinternet.com

Diocese of St Albans

Recruitment Policy (Ex-offenders)

- The Diocese of St Albans uses the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) to assess an applicant's suitability for positions of trust. The Diocese of St Albans complies fully with the DBS Code of Practice and undertakes to treat fairly all applicants for such positions. It undertakes not to discriminate unfairly on the basis of a conviction or other information revealed.

We are interested in creating an 'inclusive' society and are committed to equal opportunity. Therefore, where people have committed an offence, the nature and circumstances of that offence will be taken into consideration. In line with the DBS Code of Practice, diocesan policy states that the following should be considered:

- whether the conviction or other matter revealed is relevant to the position in question
- the seriousness of any offence or other matter revealed
- the length of time since the offence or other matter occurred
- whether the applicant's circumstances have changed since the offending behaviour or the other relevant matters
- the circumstances surrounding the offence and the explanation(s) offered by the convicted person.

Having a criminal record will not necessarily bar you from working with us.

- The Diocese of St Albans is committed to the fair treatment of its staff, potential staff or users of its services, regardless of race, gender, religion, sexual orientation, responsibilities for dependants, age, physical/mental disability or offending background.
- We actively promote equality of opportunity for all and welcome applications from a wide range of candidates, including those with criminal records. We select all candidates for interview based on their skills, qualification, experience and potential.
- An application for a criminal record check is only submitted to DBS after it has been determined that one is both proportionate and relevant to the position concerned. For such positions, all job adverts and recruitment briefs will contain a statement that a Disclosure will be requested in the event of the individual being offered the position.
- Where a Disclosure is to form part of the recruitment process, all applicants called for interview must complete a Confidential Declaration Form. This allows applicants to provide details of any criminal record at an early stage in the process. The Declaration will be retained by the employer or the parish.
- We ensure that all those in the Diocese of St Albans who are involved in the recruitment process receive appropriate guidance in the relevant legislation relating to the employment of ex-offenders, eg the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974.
- At interview, or in a separate discussion, we ensure that an open and measured discussion takes place on the subject of any offences or other matters that might be relevant to the position. Failure to reveal information that is directly relevant to the position sought could lead to withdrawal of an offer of employment or a voluntary post.
- The Diocese of St Albans holds the DBS Code of Practice and this is available at Abbey Gate House.
- We undertake to discuss any matter revealed in a Disclosure with the person seeking the position before withdrawing a conditional offer of employment or a voluntary post.

SAFE USE OF IMAGES POLICY – Data Protection

The Data Protection Act places certain duties on the Parochial Church Council to ensure that we have relevant consent to take and publish images and that we keep all data secure.

We will always ensure that we have checked whether there are reasons that a particular person cannot be photographed or identified, especially if it is a child.

We will obtain the permission of all the people who will appear in a photograph, video or webcam image before we record the footage. That means children as well as adults.

Images taken at an event attended by large crowds, such as the fete, may be regarded as a public area so we do not need to get the permission of everyone in a crowd shot.

It is a requirement of the Data Protection Act that we safeguard images (both digital and hard copies) by storing them securely and only allow use by those authorised to do so. When we are finished with images, we will destroy or delete them.

Copies of images on file will not be released without up-to-date consent forms. We will take care with archived images. We recognise that an image taken at a specific time and in specific circumstances cannot necessarily be used again at a later date or in a different context. Doing this can result in legal action.

When publishing images of children and young people, we will follow these guidelines:

- if we publish their picture, do not publish a name;
- if we publish their name, do not publish a picture;
- we will not publish full names, addresses or e-mail addresses;
- we will not publish individual close-up portraits;
- when publishing children's work we will simply label it as by 'John';
- adult leaders and parents will be given the opportunity to request that their contact information is not included in any published material.

If parents are permitted to take images during or after an event or service, we will make it clear from the start that they must be for private use only and ask for them not to put the images on the internet (particularly if a parent posts a picture on the web that shows children other than just their own child). If the picture is being used for public use then consent must be obtained.

We may want to provide written guidance to parents beforehand and/or make an announcement at the start of the event/service.

Consent

When taking images, we will ensure we have written permission to take and publish the images before we start. This permission should cover:

- How the image will be used.
(i.e. for a one-off article or as a general resource that could appear in a number of contexts.)
- How it will NOT be used.
(i.e. alongside articles or text that are of potentially sensitive or offensive subjects.)
- Where it will be used / who will it be available to.
(i.e. in internal/public-facing printed newsletters, on the web, in a DVD, in local and/or national media, in exhibitions etc.)
- How long it will be used for.
(i.e. once only, for 2 years, 3 years, indefinitely etc.)

For children under 18 years old, a parent or guardian should complete the form.

Consent forms should also be obtained for adults, particularly if they are considered 'vulnerable', for example those with learning disabilities. The parent/guardian or social worker may give written consent in these circumstances.

If required we will provide help to understand and complete a consent form, translated into a different language or have it supplied in a different format.

Completed consent paperwork should be kept on file for the duration of the time the image is being used. Once this time is up, the image should be destroyed.

Do not use an image unless you know that you have permission to do so. If you are unsure, use an alternative.

Copyright

Copyright law applies to almost everything, and can be complex and ambiguous. A few basic points are listed below:

- copyright automatically belongs to the person who created the work. In the UK it does not need to be registered. Take care with any images you release to the media, it is your responsibility to check with the owner of the copyright that it is OK to use them;
- if you are using someone else's image you must get their written permission, and always credit the artist;
- images are protected for the lifetime of the creator and for 70 years after his/her death;
- downloading images from the internet and using them on your church website without the copyright owner's consent may breach copyright laws, and could be considered a criminal offence, leading to heavy fines. Be aware that picture agencies and photographers are increasingly using software to track their images;
- if you put something on the web, you must obtain electronic global broadcasting rights from the owner of the copyright.

Context

We will be mindful of the context in which we use an image, especially if it is of children.

- if you're using it for publicity specifically related to an event;
- for information that covers sensitive areas we will always use a library picture;
- we will not use a photo in a context that is different to that stated on the consent form;
- we must ensure that images cannot be construed as being provocative;
- when taking/using images, we will be representative of diversity by reflecting gender, race and disability.

New Media

New media describes anything that relies on digital technology or computerised methods of communication, for example the internet, email, electronic kiosks, multimedia CD-ROMs, mobile phones, podcasts, webcams etc.

New media is becoming more widely used; along with this increased use comes an increased responsibility to consider how we use images safely within the new technology.

The information shared by new media is more accessible than in non-digital formats; it is easy for people to amend, manipulate or copy images, which makes them more open to abuse. As such we must be more vigilant than ever about obtaining the relevant consent to publish images, how we publish them and monitoring their use.

If we plan to use an image in any form of new media, we will obtain electronic global broadcasting rights from the owner of the copyright and ensure that the consent form states that the image will be used in digital formats, including the web.

The web-publisher will not use an image that has been uploaded onto the system by someone else.

Disability Discrimination Act (DDA)

When using images in new media, we will comply with the DDA. The DDA applies to everyone who provides a service to the public. Service providers must ensure that they do not discriminate against disabled persons when using new media images.

Releasing images to the media

The legislation governing whether or not the media can publish an image is complicated and ambiguous. If we are in any doubt about having an image published, we will not release it to the media.

If we do release an image to the media, we will check that all the relevant written consents have been obtained for the people in it and the owner of the copyright agrees to the image being published.

The laws surrounding this issue are becoming stricter, especially for pictures of children. We will be extremely cautious not to release any pictures of children who are in care, under wardship or involved in family law cases.

12. Use of Social Media

Social media sites enable users to create and share content and keep in touch with other users. They include maintaining a profile on a networking site such as Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, Snapchat; writing or commenting on a blog, whether it is your own or the blog of another person; and taking part in discussions on web forums or message boards. For many, especially young people, using social media is an extension of physical face-to-face relationships. It is therefore important that churches also engage with their community and worshippers through these platforms. However, this must be done safely to avoid the risk of:

- Forming inappropriate relationships.
- Saying things you should not, such as offensive, sexual or suggestive comments.
- Blurring the boundaries between public work/ministry and your private life.
- Grooming and impersonation.
- Bullying and harassment.

The role of the PCC

The PCC must approve the use of social media and mobile phones by the church. Where there are Facebook or similar online groups set up on the church's behalf, the PCC must ensure there is a named person to whom all workers are accountable.

The named person must be a church officer, and should be aware of the account name and password so that they can at any time log on to the account to monitor the communications. The named person should be proactive in fulfilling this role.

Communications must be shared with the named person. Church officers remain bound by professional rules of confidentiality. Where there is concern that a young person or adult is at risk of abuse, or they themselves pose a risk of abuse to others, safeguarding procedures must always be followed.

Guidance for church officers

Do:

- ✓ Have your eyes open and be vigilant.
- ✓ Maintain the upmost integrity – honesty, transparency, consistency and accountability are key. Treat online communication with children, young people and adults as you would communication that is face to face. Always maintain the same level of confidentiality.
- ✓ Report any safeguarding concerns that arise on social media to the PSO and the DSA.
- ✓ Always assume that everything you write is permanent and may be viewed by anyone at any time; and that everything can be traced back to you personally as well as to your colleagues or the church. Always think before you post.
- ✓ Draw clear boundaries around your social media usage associated with your private life and your use of different social media for public ministry. Keep church account/s and profiles separate from your personal social media account/s e.g. only use a Facebook page, Twitter or blogs for public ministry, while keeping a separate Facebook profile for private life.

- ✓ Always ask parents/carers for written consent to:
 - Use and store photographs of children/young people from activities or events in official church publications, or on the church's social media, website and displays.
 - Use telephone, text message, email and other messaging services to communicate with young people.
 - Allow young people to connect to the church's social media pages.
- ✓ Only use an approved church/ministry account to communicate with children, young people and/or vulnerable adults. The named person should be able to access this and review conversations, and the account should be visible to young people and their parents. Young people must be made aware that any communication will be viewed by all users. Save any messages and threads through social networking sites, so that you can provide evidence to the named person of your exchange when required.
- ✓ Avoid one-to-one communication with a child or young person.
- ✓ Use clear and unambiguous language in all communications and avoid abbreviations that could be misinterpreted.
- ✓ Save and download to hard copy any inappropriate material received through social networking sites or other electronic means and show immediately to the named person, PSO, incumbent or, if appropriate, Diocesan Safeguarding Adviser.
- ✓ Use passwords and log off promptly after use to ensure that nobody else can use social media pretending to be you.

Do not:

- Use a personal Facebook or any other social media account in your work with children, young people or vulnerable adults.
- Add children, young people or vulnerable adults as friends on your personal accounts.
- Facebook stalk (i.e. dig through people's Facebook pages to find out about them).
- Say anything on social media that you would not be happy saying in a public meeting, to someone's face, writing in a local newspaper or on headed notepaper.
- Comment on photos or posts, or share content, unless appropriate to your church role.
- Use visual media (e.g. Skype, Facetime) for one-to-one conversations with young people – use only in group settings.

In particular, do not allow content to contain or share links to other sites that contain:

- Libellous, defamatory, bullying or harassing statements.
- Breaches of copyright and data protection.
- Material of an illegal nature.
- Offensive sexual or abusive references.
- Inappropriate language.
- Anything which may be harmful to a child, young person or vulnerable adult, or which may bring the church into disrepute or compromise its reputation.

Mobile phones

Wherever possible, church officers should be supplied with a mobile phone dedicated for work purposes. This allows for the phone to be switched off outside working hours, and for usage to be accountable. This means that the work phone number is the only number that young people or adults are given, and the church officer's personal number can remain private. Texts or conversations that raise concerns should be saved and passed on to the named person or the PSO/incumbent (or if unavailable the DSA).
